DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claim 6 is objected to because of the following informalities. Claim 6 recites an excitation coil comprising the magnetic core wherein the magnetic core is placed on the periphery of the coil serving as the magnetic field generation means. Is there an embodiment where the core is placed on the periphery of the coil? Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

- 2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:
- A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -
- (e) the invention was described in-
- (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or
- (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

3. Claims 1-2 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tomono et al. (6,358,432). The magnetic core 2 provided so as to be related to at least a part of a magnetic filed generation means 4 or 5 by Tomono et al. teaches a base material having dispersed magnetic material (column 2, lines 33-58). The magnetic particle is at least one of iron powder, ferrite powder, and magnetite powder (column 2, lines 46-51). The magnetic core 2 is related to at least part of the magnetic field generation means 4 or 5.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Narumiya et al. (JP1-4. 86504A). The magnetic shield by Narumiya et al. teaches dispersing magnetic particles in a base material (abstract).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 6. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 2852

7. Claims 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Narumiya et al. in view of Tomono et al. Narumiya et al. does not teach the type of magnetic particles used in the base material. Tomono et al. teaches that ferrite powder may be used as magnetic particles. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the teaching of Tomono et al. with the shield of Narumiya since a specific magnetic particle has not been taught. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to select the claimed material for the base material since it has been held to be within ordinary skill in the art.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 3-7, 9-11, and 17-22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
